

Editor's Notes

I just met with some of Prime Source Forum (PSF)'s regular delegates. One told me, 'It has been very good if a company in this industry can get 4-5% increase in growth in such a moment. If there is only a 1-2% growth, it is normal.' No one seems to have any idea when the industry will bounce back under the current economic situation.

The coming 8th edition of PSF will take place from 26-27 March 2013 in Hong Kong, the global sourcing hub which cannot be missed! We will again bring together industry leaders to debate critical issues affecting the supply chain and exchange innovative ideas such as how to outperform competitors or how to improve the whole industry in a difficult time.

Prime Source Forum goes further into Asia! Now we are not only covering India, but will explore other Asian regions with satellite events which will hopefully serve better different markets, facilitating discussions relative to the regions, while the annual forum in Hong Kong retains its status as the global event.
